Prof. Eli Nathans
Prof. Karen Priestman

History 1401E examines events and forces that shaped the lives of Europeans over the past three centuries. Societies that were largely rural, illiterate, and ruled by traditional elites became mostly urban, with mandatory school attendance, mass political parties, and new forms of political loyalty. Ethnic and religious minorities and women were, in varying degrees, emancipated. In the eastern part of the continent serfdom was abolished. But this history is also one of class and ethnic hatreds and conflicts, of global imperialism, of disastrous attempts at domination and social reordering in Europe, of total wars and genocide. We will examine all of these subjects.

Course Description:

History 1401E examines events and forces that shaped the lives of Europeans over the past three centuries. Societies that were largely rural, illiterate, and ruled by traditional elites became mostly urban, with mandatory school attendance, mass political parties, and new forms of political loyalty. Ethnic and religious minorities and women were, in varying degrees, emancipated. In the eastern part of the continent serfdom was abolished. But this history is also one of class and ethnic hatreds and conflicts, of global imperialism, of disastrous attempts at domination and social reordering in Europe, of total wars and genocide. We will examine all of these subjects.

The class begins with an analysis of the origins and consequences of the French and industrial revolutions, both of which influenced European history in fundamental ways. Conflicts between those who wished to change and improve European societies and political structures and those who longed to preserve existing institutions dominated the politics of the nineteenth century. The last part of the course examines the causes and consequences of the First World War, the experience of communism in the Soviet Union, Nazism and the Second World War, decolonization, and post-war efforts at European integration.

Learning Outcomes: Students who pass this class will be able to:

- Explain the causes and consequences of, and relationships between, key events and processes in modern European history, such as the French Revolution, the industrial revolution, the development of new forms of parliamentary and also authoritarian governments, changes in the status and rights of women, and major European wars.

- Evaluate primary sources, by showing that they understand the arguments made, the goals particular claims were meant to achieve, how these goals reflected the positions and experiences of the authors, the historical contexts in which documents were composed, and the larger historical significance of the sources.

- Construct an analytic, logical, and clear historical argument in an essay that demonstrates an ability to conduct independent library research, evaluate a range of primary and secondary sources, and correctly cite the sources used.
Actively engage in discussions in tutorials, demonstrating the ability to formulate concepts and ideas orally, and to respond in clear and constructive ways to comments and questions raised by the leader of the tutorial and by other students.

Each week there are two lectures and one tutorial. Your Tutor (TA) will lead tutorial discussions that will focus on the interpretation of the original sources found in the source-book. She or he will assess your participation and grade all assignments, under the supervision of the course Director.

Evaluations and Assignments:

- Weekly postings on tutorial readings (for the entire year): 10%
- Tutorial participation (for the entire year): 10%
- Research and Drafting Exercise on the subject of the abolition of the British slave trade. First draft due in lecture on Monday, October 30th; optional revised draft due in lecture on Wednesday, December 6th: 10%
- Mid-Term Examination, to be scheduled by the Registrar in the fall exam period, which takes place from December 10th-21st: 25%
- Final Essay, due in lecture on Monday, March 5th (Proposal of a topic for the Final Essay due in tutorial during the week of January 22nd, Week 16): 20%
- Final Examination (to be scheduled by the Registrar in the winter term exam period, which takes place from April 14th-30th): 25%.

Note: The mid-term examination will be based on subjects examined during the fall term of the course. The final examination will be based on subjects examined during the winter term, although one or more of the essay questions may ask students to draw comparisons with events or institutions, or cultural or political subjects, studied during the fall term. On the final examination students may also be asked to examine subjects that relate to the periods covered in both terms. The identifications on each exam will be drawn only from materials studied in the semester covered by the exam. Model mid-term and final examinations can be found following the schedule of lectures and reading assignments.

Required Readings:

To be purchased, available at the Western Bookstore:

RAMPOLLA Mary Lynn, A Pocket Guide to Writing in History 8th ed.(Bedford/St. Martin’s, Boston, 2015). Please note that the 5th, 6th and 7th editions may be purchased quite inexpensively on-line, and are entirely acceptable.

In addition, weekly selections of readings can be found on-line on the course web-site, in the section labeled “Resources.” The website is found at owl.uwo.ca.
Notes on Assignments:

Several days before most tutorial meetings the Teaching Assistant (TA) of your tutorial will post on the tutorial website a question or questions about the readings assigned for the week. Students will be required to post responses to these questions on the forum site for their tutorial. These postings help provide a basis for discussion in tutorials.

During the fall semester all students in History 1401E will compose an essay that answers the following question: “Why did the government of the United Kingdom (commonly called Great Britain) choose to ban British ships from engaging in the slave trade between 1805 and 1807?” The purpose of this exercise is to help students to learn, or to improve, the research and writing skills they will need successfully to complete the final essay assignment in the winter term. The subject chosen is one on which considerable attention has been focused over the past several decades. Three tutorials will be devoted, in whole or in part, to discussing research methods and writing skills. To assist them in completing this exercise students will be assigned a set of documents, which will be posted on the course website, in the Resources section. These documents will form the basis for tutorial discussions, for the drafting of outlines and model paragraphs, and for the essay that students will submit in lecture on Monday, October 30th. Students will be given the chance to raise their grades on this essay, based on the comments they receive on the first draft. The revised essay, for those students who choose to submit a revised draft, will be due in lecture on Wednesday, December 6th.

Detailed guidelines for the Final Essay will be given to students in the fall term. Students must submit an essay Proposal to be approved by their TA in January. Students who wish to submit this proposal early, during the fall term, may do so. If no written proposal is submitted, a penalty of 10/100 points will be deducted from the grade of the Final Essay. A list of essay topics will be made available on the course website. Alternatively, students may craft their own question, but in all cases, the choice of topic and proposal must be approved by each student’s TA. In starting your search for sources, please refer to the suggestions for further reading prepared by the authors of the Palmer textbook. These can be found at:
http://highered.mheducation.com/sites/0073385549/student_view0/suggestions_for_further_reading.htm1

Scholarship is a craft that you learn by doing. It calls for careful research and clear writing. Poor writing signals hasty and imprecise thinking. Your attention to academic form, your knowledge of the subject, and your skill in presenting it in clear prose will all count when your tutor grades your assignments.

Guidance in organizing and writing your essay, as well as details concerning the proper citation of historical sources are found in Mary Lynn RAMPOLLA, A Pocket Guide to Writing in History, 8th ed. (Boston: Bedford / St Martin’s, 2015). An on-line source available through the University of Chicago Writing Program provides detailed guidance regarding how to write an analytic University-level essay: J. M. Williams and L. McEnerney, Writing in College: A Short Guide to College Writing (http://writing-program.uchicago.edu/resources/collegewriting).
No electronic devices or notes or sources of any kind are allowed in either the fall term examination or in the final examination.

For the Slave Trade Abolition Essay and the Final Essay, you must give a printed copy to your TA and submit an identical electronic copy to Turnitin, a plagiarism detection software licensed to Western University for textual similarity review. Both essays are submitted to Turnitin through the class OWL website. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between Western University and Turnitin.com.

A late assignment must be delivered to your TA, or, failing that, to the office of the Department of History (after hours, use the Essay drop-off box). A late penalty will be applied starting from the end of the day when the assignment is due: 1/100 point will be deducted from your mark for every day that these essays are late. An electronic copy of the late assignment must also be submitted at the same time to Turnitin.

No paper will be graded unless both paper and electronic copies are received. Keep all preparatory notes, early drafts, and a spare copy of your work. The Course Director may ask for these materials.

Should you wish to appeal a grade, please draft a written statement outlining the reasons for your appeal. Direct your appeal to your TA first, then to the Course Director, Professor Nathans. An appealed mark may be raised, lowered, or left unchanged. Should you wish to appeal the decision of Professor Nathans, you may do so as provided in the Academic Calendar.

Accommodation for students with disabilities: Please contact the Student Development Services staff. Information at http://www.sdc.uwo.ca/SSD/. Documentation must be provided to Student Development Services staff, not to the Course Director or other instructors.

Accommodation for illness: Western’s Medical Accommodation Policy can be found at: student.uwo.ca. Your physician must fill out a Western Student Medical Certificate. Academic accommodation may be granted on medical grounds with documentation indicating that the student was seriously affected by illness and could not reasonably be expected to meet his or her academic responsibilities. The documentation should be submitted to the Academic Counselling Office of the student's home Faculty, with a Western Student Medical Certificate. Privacy policies prohibit the submission of medical documentation to TAs or faculty members. Students who are in emotional/mental distress should refer to Mental Health@Western http://www.uwo.ca/uwocom/mentalhealth/ for a complete list of options about how to obtain help.”

Plagiarism:
Scholastic offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, including the definition of what constitutes a Scholastic Offence, at the following Web site: http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf
