

The University of Western Ontario
HISTORY 2301E
The United States of America:
Colonial Period to the Present
Spring 2018
Online

Instructor: Dr. Timothy Compeau

Office Hours: By Appointment

Department of History, Office: Lawson Hall 2245

Email: tcompea@uwo.ca

Course Description: Emphasis first term upon the emergence of the American nation, the egalitarian impulse, national expansion and sectional conflict; second term, upon the great transformations of the modern era: the growth of industrialism, big government, a pluralistic society, and international predominance.

Antirequisites: History 2302F/G, History 2710F/G.

Learning Objectives:

- identify and explain the significance of key events, people, and ideas in American history.
- connect events from the American past to current political and social issues.
- apply the historical method to challenge erroneous assumptions of the past.
- express ideas and arguments clearly and concisely both orally and in writing.
- write and properly format an essay that uses primary and secondary evidence to support a thesis statement.

Required Texts:

Eric Foner, Give Me Liberty: An American History. (Any from the third edition to present). NOTE: THIS IS THE COMBINED VOLUME.

All other readings can be found on JSTOR, OWL, on library reserve, or have their stable URLs listed in the course summary below.

Methods of Evaluation:

Assignment 1 (June 1): 20%

Assignment 2 Proposal (June 15): 5%

Assignment 2 (July 9): 25%

Critical Reading Assessments (8 x 2.5%): 20%

Forum Participation: 10%

Final Assignment (Due July 27): 20%

Written Assignments: All written assignments should be typed, double spaced with one-inch margins. ALL WRITTEN WORK MUST BE SUBMITTED IN ORDER TO PASS THE COURSE.

All written assignments must be typed, double spaced, with 12 pt. font, and 1-inch margins. Citations must follow Chicago Manual of Style rules which can be found online at http://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools_citationguide.html with full access provided through library proxy. Failure to cite in the proper format will result in 5% deduction.

All assignments must be submitted to turnitin.com through OWL and an identical copy emailed to the instructor. No paper submissions are needed or accepted.

DO NOT wait until the last few minutes before midnight to submit papers as website malfunctions can occur during periods of high demand.

Late Penalties: Late papers will receive a 2% deduction per day that the paper is overdue (including weekends). No paper will be accepted after the final day of class.

Forum Participation: All students are required to participate in forum discussion. Questions are open and posted by unit at the beginning of the course and each unit's forum will remain open until the Friday afternoon of the assigned week (i.e. Unit 1 closes May 11, Unit 2 closes May 18 etc.). Quality is preferred over quantity. Students are also encouraged to pose their own questions. Remember to ask questions and provide answers and comments in a collegial and professional fashion.

Critical Reading Assessments: There are 8 additional readings for this course that can be found in the resources section of OWL and are linked through the specific units. Students are required to submit a completed critical reading assessment form for Units 1, 2, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 11, by no later than the Friday of the week. (i.e. May 11, May 18, June 8, June 15, June 22, June 29, July 13, July 20).

Students may work ahead at their own pace.

Assignment 1: Slavery and the American Revolution (June 1)

Instructions: Read the following primary and secondary sources and write an 8 page paper (roughly 2000 words), that makes an historical argument or answers a specific research question. You may do additional research if you feel your question or argument warrants it, but additional research is optional.

Remember: History papers use CHICAGO MANUAL OF STYLE rules.

Copies of sources or links to online versions will be available in the Resources section of the OWL site.

Assignment 2: Open Topic

Assignment 2 consists of two components. Students are required to submit an Essay Proposal (250 words). The proposal should include research questions, tentative argument, and a bibliography similar in scope to the example in Assignment 1 (a mix of approximately 6-10 primary and secondary sources). Due: June 15. Students are required to come up with their own topics and questions. Please contact the instructor if you require help thinking of a topic.

Write a ten-page (2500 word) essay on your topic in the same format as Assignment 1 (12 pt., double spaced, 1 inch margins) and submit by July 9.

Final Assignment:

Students are required answer question(s) that will be distributed on July 23th and must be submitted on July 27th by 11:55PM. Answers must be based on and demonstrate engagement with course material. No additional research is required. More details will be provided on OWL.

Additional Statements

Academic Offences:

Scholastic Offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitute a Scholastic Offence, at the following Web site:

http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

"All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted for such checking will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com (<http://www.turnitin.com>)."

Accessibility Options:

Please contact the course instructor if you require material in an alternate format or if you require any other arrangements to make this course more accessible to you. You may also wish to contact Services for Students with Disabilities (SSD) at 519 661-2111 x 82147 for any specific question regarding an accommodation.

Information regarding accommodation of exams is available on the Registrar's website:

www.registrar.uwo.ca/examinations/accommodated_exams.html

Medical Issues

The University recognizes that a student's ability to meet his/her academic responsibilities may, on occasion, be impaired by medical illness. Please go to:

https://studentservices.uwo.ca/secure/medical_accommodations_link_for_OOR.pdf

to read about the University's policy on medical accommodation. This site provides links the necessary forms. In the event of illness, you should contact Academic Counselling as soon as possible. The Academic Counsellors will determine, in consultation with the student, whether or not accommodation should be requested. They will subsequently contact the instructors in the relevant courses about the accommodation. Once the instructor has made a decision about whether to grant an accommodation, the student should contact his/her instructors to determine a new due date for tests, assignments, and exams.

Students must see the Academic Counsellor and submit all required documentation in order to be approved for certain accommodation: http://counselling.ssc.uwo.ca/procedures/medical_accommodation.html

Plagiarism:

Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea, or a passage from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offense (see Scholastic Offence Policy in the Western Academic Calendar).

All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com (<http://www.turnitin.com>).

The following rules pertain to the acknowledgements necessary in academic papers.

A. In using another writer's words, you must both place the words in quotation marks and acknowledge that the words are those of another writer.

You are plagiarizing if you use a sequence of words, a sentence or a paragraph taken from other writers without acknowledging them to be theirs. Acknowledgement is indicated either by (1) mentioning the author and work from which the words are borrowed in the text of your paper; or by (2) placing a footnote number at the end of the quotation in your text, and including a correspondingly numbered footnote at the bottom of the page (or in a separate reference section at the end of your essay). This footnote should indicate author, title of the work, place and date of Publication and page number. Method (2) given above is usually preferable for academic essays because it provides the reader with more information about your sources and leaves your text uncluttered with parenthetical and tangential references. In either case words taken from another author must be enclosed in quotation marks or set off from your text by single spacing and indentation in such a way that they cannot be mistaken for your own words. Note that you cannot avoid indicating quotation simply by changing a word or phrase in a sentence or paragraph which is not your own.

B. In adopting other writer's ideas, you must acknowledge that they are theirs.

You are plagiarizing if you adopt, summarize, or paraphrase other writers' trains of argument, ideas or sequences of ideas without acknowledging their authorship according to the method of acknowledgement given in 'A' above. Since the words are your own, they need not be enclosed in quotation marks. Be certain, however, that the words you use are entirely your own; where you must use words or phrases from your source; these should be enclosed in quotation marks, as in 'A' above.

Clearly, it is possible for you to formulate arguments or ideas independently of another writer who has expounded the same ideas, and whom you have not read. Where you got your ideas is the important consideration here. Do not be afraid to present an argument or idea without acknowledgement to another writer, if you have arrived at it entirely independently. Acknowledge it if you have derived it from a source outside your own thinking on the subject.

In short, use of acknowledgements and, when necessary, quotation marks is necessary to distinguish clearly between what is yours and what is not. Since the rules have been explained to you, if you fail to make this distinction, your instructor very likely will do so for you, and they will be forced to regard your omission as intentional literary theft. Plagiarism is a serious offence which may result in a student's receiving an 'F' in a course or, in extreme cases, in their suspension from the University.
