

The Webbs of Green Gables

Presented by:
Professor Alan MacEachern
History Professor, Western University

In 1909, Myrtle and Ernest Webb took possession of an attractive, ordinary farm in Cavendish, Prince Edward Island, that was already becoming known as inspiration for Anne of Green Gables, published a year earlier. This presentation will focus on Alan MacEachern's book project and how it was built around Myrtle's extensive diary that was not previously available to researchers.
