Tweeting Tales of Life and Death: Popularizing Cemeteries as Historical Sites on Social Media

Presented by:

Dr. Adam Montgomery, Independent Historian

When it comes to popularizing history and conjuring up the past, few sources stir the imagination like gravestones. This presentation will focus on how social media allows historians to tell brief, interesting stories with the help of cemeteries as the perfect repositories for drawing on tales of life, love, and death that both scholars and the public can utilize for researching the past.
