COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Ancient Middle East was the birthplace of human civilization but the modern Middle East is a place of destruction and economic decline. It is the center of conflict and subject to international concern. This survey course is designed to provide understanding, knowledge and analysis of events and historical transformations in the Middle East, beginning with the Islamic conquest in the 7th century concluding by the 21st century.

The first term lectures will cover the period from the 7th century to the 15th and will end with the Ottoman conquest of the Middle East in 1517. The survey begins with the Arab tribes’ sweep across the Middle East and the formation of a new religion, Islam, the third monotheistic religion to emerge from the Middle East. New political order arose in parts of Europe, Africa and Asia, supplanting the Roman, Persian and Byzantine empires. A new civilization surfaced, with its own institutions, culture and art, among others. Topics included are: Muhammad and the Qur'an, the Islamic legal system, the economy, social structure and political institutions, literature, philosophy, theology, art and architecture, medicine and science.

The second term begins with the Ottoman Empire, its expansion into Europe and the Middle East and concludes with recent events. We look at the Ottoman Empire in its glory and decline and how its policies in the Middle East led to the transformation of social, economic and political institutions and structures, until its fragmentation in the First World War. The formation of independent Arab states in the 20th century opens a new period in the history of the Middle East. We cover the political and social movements and ideologies, which inspired – or not- the course of events and the standards of living in the contemporary Middle East. Pan-Islamism, nationalism, Ba'athism (Arab Socialism), militarism (the rule of the army) and simple dictatorial regimes compete with the legacy of the Colonial powers in sharing the blame for the current collapse of states and societies. Included in the survey are subjects such as the economic and developmental policies, the Middle Eastern family, the role of gender and the status of women.

SUMMARY OF GRADED COURSEWORK

Attendance and Participation:

The course is based on the instructor’s lectures and on readings from secondary and primary sources. In lectures you will be marked on attendance. If there is a medical or family emergency and you are unable to attend, please notify the TA as soon as possible, and attain the proper paperwork from Academic Counselling if you would like accommodation.

In tutorials you will be marked on participation NOT attendance. If you have a medical and family emergency and are unable to attend, please notify the TA as soon as possible, and an alternate way for you to participate can be arranged. Tutorial discussion will be based upon the lecture, lecture readings, and tutorial readings. Please come prepared – if you do not speak in tutorial you will get no marks.

Written homework will be assigned on occasion in tutorials. Homework will be due in tutorial the week after it is assigned, there will be no marks for work submitted late. If you are absent from tutorial you are responsible for finding out what homework might have been assigned. Emailing homework to the TA is acceptable – be sure to receive email confirmation of your submission.

Written Assignments

Detailed descriptions of the two assignments will be distributed in tutorials.

Assignments will be due in tutorial, papers received after the end of tutorial are late. Late papers can be submitted in the drop box in the history department, outside of Lawson Hall 2201 (papers are collected from the drop box at 8:30 am and 4pm). Late penalty will be 2% per day including weekends. Papers can be submitted by email in special circumstances – please contact the TA in advance.

If you require an extension you must arrange it with the PROFESSOR. If there is a medical or family emergency and you are unable to meet the due date, please notify the TA and the PROFESSOR as soon as possible, and attain the proper paperwork from Academic Counselling if you would like accommodation.
Exams

There are two exams. They are accumulative, and will include information from lectures, tutorials and from the readings. Emphasis will be on critical thinking and analytical skills.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

Prerequisites and Antirequisites:

Unless you have either the requisites for this course, as described in the Academic Calendar description of the course, or written special permission from your Dean to enroll in it, you may be removed from this course and it will be deleted from your record. This decision may not be appealed. You will receive no adjustment to your fees in the event that you are dropped from a course for failing to have the necessary prerequisites. The Academic Calendar description of each course also indicates which classes are considered antirequisites, i.e., to cover such similar material that students are not permitted to receive academic credit for both courses.

Academic Offences:

Scholastic Offences are taken seriously and students are directed to read the appropriate policy, specifically, the definition of what constitute a Scholastic Offence, at the following Web site: http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/pdf/academic_policies/appeals/scholastic_discipline_undergrad.pdf

Plagiarism:

Students must write their essays and assignments in their own words. Whenever students take an idea, or a passage from another author, they must acknowledge their debt both by using quotation marks where appropriate and by proper referencing such as footnotes or citations. Plagiarism is a major academic offense (see Scholastic Offence Policy in the Western Academic Calendar).

All required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to the commercial plagiarism detection software under license to the University for the detection of plagiarism. All papers submitted will be included as source documents in the reference database for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of papers subsequently submitted to the system. Use of the service is subject to the licensing agreement, currently between The University of Western Ontario and Turnitin.com (http://www.turnitin.com).

The following rules pertain to the acknowledgements necessary in academic papers.

A. In using another writer's words, you must both place the words in quotation marks and acknowledge that the words are those of another writer.

You are plagiarizing if you use a sequence of words, a sentence or a paragraph taken from other writers without acknowledging them to be theirs. Acknowledgement is indicated either by (1) mentioning the author and work from which the words are borrowed in the text of your paper; or by (2) placing a footnote number at the end of the quotation in your text, and including a correspondingly numbered footnote at the bottom of the page (or in a separate reference section at the end of your essay). This footnote should indicate author, title of the work, place and date of Publication and page number. Method (2) given above is usually preferable for academic essays because it provides the reader with more information about your sources and leaves your text uncluttered with parenthetical and tangential references. In either case words taken from another author must be enclosed in quotation marks or set off from your text by single spacing and indentation in such a way that they cannot be mistaken for your own words. Note that you cannot avoid indicating quotation simply by changing a word or phrase in a sentence or paragraph which is not your own.

B. In adopting other writer's ideas, you must acknowledge that they are theirs.

You are plagiarizing if you adopt, summarize, or paraphrase other writers' trains of argument, ideas or sequences of ideas without acknowledging their authorship according to the method of acknowledgement given in 'At above. Since the words are your own, they need not be enclosed in quotation marks. Be certain, however, that the words you use are entirely your own; where you must use words or phrases from your source; these should be enclosed in quotation marks, as in 'A' above.

Clearly, it is possible for you to formulate arguments or ideas independently of another writer who has expounded the same ideas, and whom you have not read. Where you got your ideas is the important consideration here. Do not be afraid to present an argument or idea without acknowledgement to another writer, if you have arrived at it entirely independently. Acknowledge it if you have derived it from a source outside your own thinking on the subject.

In short, use of acknowledgements and, when necessary, quotation marks is necessary to distinguish clearly between what is yours and what is not. Since the rules have been explained to you, if you fail to make this distinction, your instructor very likely will do so for you, and they will be forced to regard your omission as intentional literary theft. Plagiarism is a serious offence which may result in a student's receiving an 'F' in a course or, in extreme cases, in their suspension from the University.

Medical Issues:

The University recognizes that a student’s ability to meet his/her academic responsibilities may, on occasion, be impaired by medical illness. Please go to https://studentservices.uwo.ca/secure/medical_accommodations_link_for_OOR.pdf to read about the University’s policy on medical accommodation. This site provides links the necessary forms. In the event of illness, you should contact Academic Counselling as soon as possible. The Academic Counsellors will determine, in consultation with the student, whether or not accommodation should be requested. They will subsequently contact the instructors in the relevant courses about the accommodation. Once the instructor has made a decision about whether to grant an accommodation, the student should contact his/her instructors to determine a new due date for tests, assignments, and exams.

SUPPORT SERVICES:
Students who are in emotional/mental distress should refer to Mental Health@Western, http://www.uwo.ca/uwocom/mentalhealth/ for a complete list of options about how to obtain help.

Please contact the course instructor if you require material in an alternate format or if you require any other arrangements to make this course more accessible to you. You may also wish to contact Services for Students with Disabilities (SSD) at 661-2111 x 82147 for any specific question regarding an accommodation.

If you have any further questions or concerns please contact, Morgan Sheriff, Undergraduate Program Advisor, Department of History, 519-661-2111 x84999 or msherif5@uwo.ca
