This is a draft syllabus. Please see the course site on OWL for a final version.

Course Description:
This course explores capitalism, often exemplified by materialism, greed, and scandal. In particular, it examines a series of capitalist excesses (booms) that were followed by crises (busts) within the political, theoretical and cultural context of various eras.

Course Syllabus:
Mergers, relentless interest in Wall Street, and a celebration of “success” – take Hollywood’s Gordon Gecko proclaiming “greed is good” – seemingly promise ever-greater wealth. Yet history reveals a near-endless series of booms and busts, mergers, takeovers, scandals and corporate failures, not to mention the rise of unsettling new technologies. Tycoons came and went; close at hand were economists and politicians who promised more sustained affluence -- Donald Trump serves as a recent example. Economic and financial crises were blamed on “bad policy” even as figures as varied as Smith, Keynes, Von Hayek, and Friedman offered their prescriptions.

This course examines these unsteady economic paths in search of both the sources and nature of economic booms and busts. The course begins by briefly considering earlier economic crises, then the circumstances and lessons of the Great Depression and postwar Keynesian prosperity before moving on to the Oil Crisis of the early 1970s and the onset of Neoliberal dominance. The rocky road to the “Great Recession” and the unsteady journey to the fall and rise (and fall) of economic activity brought on by the Covid-19 pandemic.

Make-up exams can only be approved by Academic Counselling. Please see https://history.uwo.ca/undergraduate/program_module_information/policies.html for department procedures and requirements involving make-up tests and exams.

Extensions for late papers / posts worth less than 10 % will only be available for reasons deemed suitable under the regulations established by the University. See the information at the end of this paragraph. Be sure to consult with the Professor as soon as possible. Longer absences or missed work of greater mark value will require documentation be submitted by the student directly to the appropriate Faculty Dean’s office and not to the instructor. It will be the Dean’s office that will determine if accommodation is warranted. For more detail: Social Science Academic Counselling on Absence & Academic Consideration, the university’s policies on Academic Consideration for Medical Illness, and the Department of History’s own Undergraduate Policies and Statements.

Additional Statements

Use of Electronic Devices:
No electronic devices will be permissible for use for the Final examination. Use in lectures at the discretion of the professor – objectionable or distracting use forbidden.

Office Hours:
Each week I will be available for student questions and concerns. Hours tba but likely immediately following class or by appointment.

Use of generative AI tools:
As with earlier technologies like Google or the much more resilient technology known as the book, students will like turn to generative AI tools like ChatGPT. This use is permitted IF the purpose is early development of content, refining ideas, and organization. Such use must be cited with proper documentation in the final paper. Moreover, that final submission must reflect YOUR ideas and writing. Submission of work done by “others” – technological or human, is not permitted. Given the “ideas from class” format of much of the work, your own work will be, in the end, a better choice. Should the University provide a campus-wide policy concerning AI, these broader policies will replace the above statements.

Important Department Policy Note:
Please review the Department of History’s shared policies and statements for all undergraduate courses at: https://history.uwo.ca/undergraduate/program_module_information/policies.html for important information regarding accessibility options, make-up exams, medical accommodations, health and wellness, academic integrity, plagiarism, and more.
